

Artist: unknown. This fan-in-bottle was purchased at an antique mall in Michigan. No information was included.

Design: This type of carving was typical of German “trench art” from World War I. Because of the style of the fan blades, we believe it to be of European origin.