

Artist: Robert Perko of Breznica, Žirovnica, Slovenia

Design: This “Holy Spirit” fan bird is constructed with three-pieces-of-wood. The bird’s body and tail is one-piece, then each of the wings are fitted into the body. The sharp v-scorp carving along the feathers creates a nice crisp artistic effect.

Timber: Lipa (aka lime: linden: basswood)

Artist: Andrej Ozebek of Mošnje, Radovljica, Slovenia

Design: This “Holy Spirit” fan bird is constructed with two-pieces-of-wood. The bird’s body and tail are one-piece: the wings are another piece that is seated down into the body. The elaborate detail is all done with woodcarving gouges. The gouge sweep number can be determined by the profile along the edge of the feather. The drill hole also adds a nice effect. Very interesting pattern, full of detail!

Timber: unknown

Artist: Monika Klemenčič of Loce, Slovenia

Design: This “Holy Spirit” fan bird is constructed with one-piece-of-wood. It is interlocked to have two wings and a double tail ...4 fans! The pattern along the feathers creates lovely overlapping rows of waves once they are interlocked. This dove can sit on it’s own merit due to the design.

Timber: Lipa (aka lime: linden: basswood)

Artist: Bogomir Samec of Trbovlje, Slovenia

Design: This “Holy Spirit” fan bird was constructed with three-pieces-of-wood. The bird’s body and tail is one-piece: the two wings are seated into the body. The v-scorp cuts along the feather’s edge create a crisp design. This bird can sit on it’s own merit due to the design.

Timber: Lipa (aka lime: linden: basswood)

English language	Slovenia (language)
bird	ptica
Christmas bird	Božična ptica
dove	golob
Dove of Peace	Golob miru
Easter bird	Velikonočna ptica fan bird	ptica-pahljača
fan bird dove	ptica-pahljača golob
fan bird legend	ptica-pahljača legenda
fan carving	fan carving rezbarjenje
fan carving wood	fan carving rezbarjenje les
Folk Art	Ljudska umetnost
Holy Spirit bird	Holy Spirit ptica
legend	legenda
Old World folk art	Old World ljudska umetnost
symbolism	simbolizem
to cleave / to split / to rive	razcepiti / razklati / razčesniti wood	les
wood bird	les ptica
wood bird sculpture	les ptica kip
wood carvers	les rezbarji